

Cy-Fair High School's New Website

We owe thanks to Michael Schriver (senior), Cody Willmoth (junior), and Landon Whitecotton (junior) for all their hard work and effort in building the new Cy-Fair High School Website. The new look website was a collaborative effort between these three students who spent many months researching, designing, and creating. The new website was released on March 23 and continues to be a work in progress. Michael, Cody, and Landon have displayed tremendous work ethics, creativity as well as advanced web mastering skills in order to build the new website. We hope that the new website will better serve the school and community as a great source for valuable information.
